

Not all buildings are created equal.

It all started one winter many years ago, in a small shop where our first storage barns were built. By the end of the year, our founder, Mose Miller, realized the need for storage buildings, and in 1981 Alpine Structures was born. As we continue to grow, Alpine Structures remains dedicated to providing high-quality products with excellent customer service. Our success is credited first and foremost to God who has blessed us abundantly with wonderful employees and loyal customers.
